

International Seminar on Maintenance Science and Technology for Nuclear Power Plants

Content: The objectives of this seminar are to discuss the possibility of “Maintenology” as a trans-disciplinary science, and to exchange the updated information on advanced maintenance for nuclear power plants. This seminar is organized with a prospect of developing a Forum on Maintenance Science and Technology for Nuclear Power Plants. This time, it consists of invited talks and organized session to discuss future activities.